

Magma Applications B.V.

No Fear No Fire!

As a result of its worldwide activities Magma Applications BV has gained in-depth experience of the treatment of different types of reed, grass and other thatching materials.

The service life of Magma Firestop SG2H depends a lot on the place, age, thatching material and surroundings of the roof.

Older roofs, where the top layer is of a lesser quality than a brand new roof, or Thatched roof buildings in a forestry surrounding will need more maintenance than roofs in an open field or on the coast.

Our experience tells us that an average service life of five years is common but we have to keep in mind that there are exception to the rules.

With kind regards,
